

Destination Imagination

Meeting 4: December 18, 2007

- 1. Charades.* Everyone's played this before. If you haven't, you should! Since this is the last meeting before the holidays, this is wide open. There are no rules. Let's just have fun. Remember: no talking!
- 2. Song Writing and Singing.* You all said you like singing last week. We promised you we would do something with music this week. Well, here it is. We'll break up into two groups. You are going to write a song. The song must have the following words in it: "snow", "summer", "school", and "saturday". Try to be as creative as you can. Groups will be Nate, Molly, and Doug (in the family room with Paul) and Delaney, Vincent, and Caleb (in the living room with Maureen). Someone has to be assigned the writer of the lyrics. There are musical instruments for you to incorporate if you wish. Not everyone has to sing. But everyone has to do something for your performance.
- 3. Story Telling.* Remember we did this a couple of weeks ago? We're going to do it a little different, slightly more complicated. Sit in a circle and tell a story one sentence at a time.

Note to parents and kids:

Happy holidays!!!! Our next meeting will be January 8th at 4pm.
